

Business Challenge

Well-run meetings leave everyone with a sense of accomplishment, satisfaction and clearly defined outcomes. Poorly planned and run meetings waste one of an organization's most important assets...time. Skilled facilitators apply a specific set of skills and methods along with a sharp sensitivity to people in order to increase a group's ability to work together creatively and productively. These facilitation skills are fast becoming an essential competency for anyone who is on team, leads a project, or leads people.

Core Skills for the Future

Facilitation Toolbox is an experiential two-day workshop designed to equip participants with the essential facilitation skills and a toolbox of practical techniques that increase group productivity, improve problem solving and decision making, increase group collaboration and buy-in, and shorten cycle times.

The program includes intensive participant practice in proven facilitation techniques and individualized coaching and feedback.

Key Content

Facilitation Toolbox is organized into five core modules:

Introduction to Facilitation— This module describes our facilitation philosophy and model. It outlines the four critical essentials of effective facilitation (Task, Process, Interaction, Logistics), as well as the inner character qualities of an effective facilitator.

Task— Participants will practice using an array of techniques and tools that clarify and focus the group's task, and the manner in which meeting results will be recorded and evaluated.

Process— This module defines a problem solving/decision making process and provides hands-on practice using tools that will help the group define issues, generate/evaluate options, facilitate agreement, and ensure action, accountabilities and measurement.

Interaction— Participants will receive a variety of tools to increase the quality of group interaction, to encourage full participation of all members and to deal effectively with disagreements, conflicts or dysfunctional behaviors.

Logistics— Participants will learn to manage the environmental factors and logistics (e.g., room setup, supplies) that promote quality discussion and efficient completion of the group's task.

Outcomes

Participants will learn to:

- Design results-focused agendas, group processes and implementation plans
- Keep discussions on track and improve group communication
- Focus on decision making to build agreement and commitment
- Initiate collaborative problem-solving in order to make higher quality group decisions.
- Leverage diverse points of view and communication styles
- Deal with conflict or dysfunctional group behaviors
- Teach and empower others to facilitate
